

PROFILE

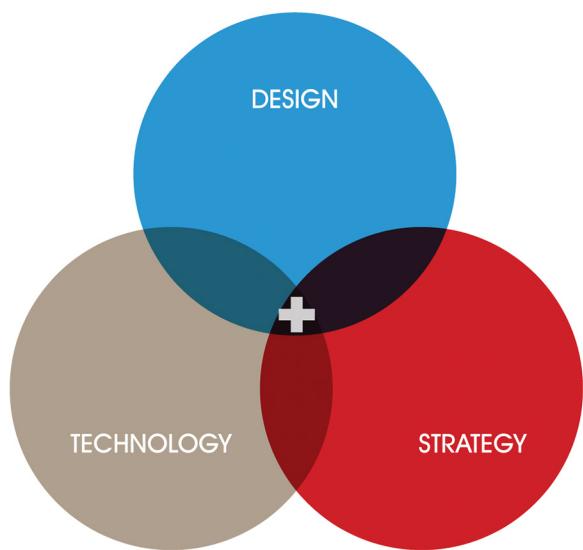

My name is Amrita thokar karki. The beautiful city kathmandu is where I was born and raised. I worked as a User Interface and Interactive Designer. I have designed several interactive UI for different platforms. My passion is for compelling user experiences, and common sense methodologies for collaboration design. I started out working as a customer service representative and have translated those skills into impeccable client communication, engaging storytelling and empathetic, highlyusable interactive design.

I am constantly leaning new skills and stay on top of current trends both offline and online.

Currently I am working for GrowByData Pvt Ltd. I designed and implemented the UI process and strategy for our office making interactive project more agile and user-centered.

I enjoy listening to music, Movies and Travel

GOALS & MOTIVATORS

- + Work in a collaborative environment that doesn't believe in departmental silos
- + Be a part of large-scale online integrated initiatives that provide unforgettable experiences.
- + Work on smaller-scale projects that do the same.
- + Continue to explore new methods of providing narrative in UX documentation.
- + Continue to learn new skills and new ways to express the skills I already have.
- + Teach what I have learned, so that I may learn from the process itself.
- + Establish the process itself.
